FAQ

How do I book the activity?

Contact us at comunicacio@espigoladors.com and we will contact you to evaluate quote and availability in our agenda.

How far in advance do I have to book?

It is recommended to book the activity as soon as possible. Some reservations are made months in advance. When you contact us, please let us know your preference of dates and we will do our best to accommodate.

How should participants prepare?

On the day of the gleaning, volunteers will receive training on the agricultural environment where we are located, the destination of the fresh produce recovered, field techniques and safety measures, among other information.

Are there specific physical condition requirements?

No, but it is not a suitable activity for people with mobility difficulties. You must also be able to walk on unstable terrain (muddy terrain or other) and keep in mind that during the activity there will be no toilets available.

Is there any material to bring to the gleanings?

You should wear closed shoes and it is preferable to wear pants and long sleeves. Depending on the weather conditions, it is recommended to bring a hat and sunscreen. Consider if you want to bring mosquito repellent. Volunteers will receive at the beginning of the activity a green vest with the Espigoladors logo and the necessary material: tools, boxes, etc.

Where exactly will the gleaning be?

Gleaning is an activity that cannot be foreseen long in advance, as it is influenced by various elements (market situation, weather, etc.). For this reason, the exact location of the field will be informed a few days in advance.

Is it possible to carry out the activity for more than 35 people?

At the moment we cannot offer gleanings for more than 35 people, but we can consider the option of simultaneous activities for the whole group (for example, a cooking workshop).

Why do I have to pay to do corporate volunteering?

The organization of corporate gleanings has costs associated with human and material resources, coordination and logistics before, during and after the activity. Our corporate volunteer program contributes to the economic sustainability of the project and guarantees the continuity of our actions.

Thank you for being part of the solution!
